Tall Ships have passed and those that still ply the sea have a presence that commands instant respect. Among all ships they stand out as beautiful machines. The great masts and spars are designed to carry sails that bend to the wind drawing with that elemental force in a natural beauty.

The United States Coast Guard Eagle welcomed visitors this weekend in New Bedford and it was a privilege to tread her spotless teakwood deck. The Eagle has had a colorful past dating from 1936 when she was built in the Blohm & Voss Shipyard in Hamburg, Germany. She was commissioned Horst Wessel and was a training vessel for German cadets. She served as a troop transport and cargo ship during World War II and was taken by the United States as a prize in 1946 and sailed to New London where she was commissioned the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Eagle.

The Eagle is a seagoing training vessel for a complement of 175 cadets and instructors during the summer months. The Eagle has taken part in many of the "Tall Ship" assemblies and parades and is one of the most beautiful of that group. She is 1816 tons, fully loaded, and carries 21,350.8 square feet of sail on masts that reach 147.3 feet and with fore and main yards 78.8 feet in span. She is awe inspiring. Her speed under sail reaches a top 17 knots (under power 10 knots). The ship has over 20 miles of rigging. Over 200 lines, each with a purpose, must be coordinated to maneuver the ship under sail and her cadets must know the function of each line and learn to handle the sail aloft. Three huge wheels of brass and wood are used for steering and each is manned by underclassmen.

The Eagle's hull is steel. She has 2 full length steel decks with raised fore-ly proud of their spotless vessel which is America's only active duty square rigger.

It's a strange contrast between modern functional and attractive but the awe, the the attention like a powerful magnet. Side

Selectmen's Meeting

JULY 30, 1985 - by VIRGINIA ARRAL
ADOPT CHANGES IN POLICE DEPARTMENT
SPECIAL OFFICERS

Selectmen voted unanimously last Tuesday to adopt changes in definitions and qualifications of special police officers and to eliminate certain persons presently serving as specials. Asked Selectman James Huntoon,
"I know it's historical, but why do we keep reappointing specials every year?"

Police Chief James Moran explained the system began years ago in the beach areas when specials were named to keep an eye on property. The Chief noted the specials have the power to arrest, but have no proper training by state statutes. When asked by Selectmen why he waited so long before asking for changes, Moran said because of the town's liability and the prevalence of law suits in other areas.

Selectmen Chairman John DeCosta explained the changes were made after meeting with

Police Chief Moran. Chief Moran said the way special officers are serving now leaves the town and himself wide open for law suits as some of these people are not properly trained. "Your actions in making these changes show the town is acting in good faith for your (selectmen's) protection as well as my own protection."

Eliminated as special police officers are Harry Schmitt, Public Prosecutor; Oman Price, Point Connett area; Joseph Harrison, Sanitary Landfill; Al Pauline, Shellfish Warden; and Steven Mach, Harbormaster.

Beatrice Ingram, presently a special, and Bernice Heuberger, a reserve, will remain with the designation as Reserve Officers. They both must qualify and meet the criteria set down by the Police Chief or be terminated as reserves.

Technically Mrs. Heuberger and Mrs. Ingram work at band concerts for the police department. Mrs. Ingram directs traffic and other duties for the school department and is paid by them, but when she directs traffic she comes under the supervision of the police department. Mrs. Heuberger serves as a matron when a female is arrested, Chief Moran explained.

New officers appointed will be classified as trainees for a period of one year. Chief Moran explained, "I won't let anyone work unless they have completed 200 hours in uniform on cruiser duty with another officer." The trainee must pass the "brown book" exam and take the 13-week course -- all at no expense to the town.

As noted in the police chief's letter to selectmen, his concern was with the special officers and not with part-time police officers. He noted all the part-time officers have completed and met the state standards and more. The standards include: take

It was explained the shellfish warden has the power under his appointment as warden to detain persons breaking the law pertaining to shellfishing. The chief did not feel Pauline should carry firearms without firearm training. It was noted Pauline has had no formal training in the use of firearms.

In other business, Selectmen met with the Personnel Board and Town Accountant Betty Sears and Building Inspector David Crook to discuss changes proposed in their department.

The need for additional help for the town accountant was outlined by Betty Sears, and David Crook requested to be made full-time inspector. The requests were taken under advisement by the Personnel Board. Selectmen voiced favorable opinions to the changes.

Betty explained she spends about 15 hours overtime at work plus having to take work home in addition to the regular work week. Reports have to be completed that the former town accountant did not have time to complete. "I could use someone to do the clerical work on a part-time basis," said Betty. "There are many time consuming duties that do not require an accountant's experience, didn't come to the Personnel Board last January when they knew Barbara Dakin, the former town accountant, was having problems keeping up with the work, thus causing her to leave at a crucial time before town meeting. Chairman DeCosta said Ms. Dakin thought about it but put it off because of the Proposition 2½ financial constraints on the town.

Selectman Huntoon said if the job is going to be done professionally, "we need the help. The state will be coming down on us if we don't get caught up on our reports to them." Huntoon said, "We never should have let Jane Ellis go (the town accountant who served before Ms. Dakin). She was overworked and at a low salary. The present salary of $17,000 is a steal and it should be higher for the work involved in a million dollar operation."

Building Inspector David Crook presented his case for full-time status due to the heavy work load. If the Personnel Board agrees on the full-time status, it will remain in effect until the next annual town meeting when the need will be reassessed.

Chairman DeCosta said the amount of the work load was brought to the board's attention when, on Tuesday nights, there were long lines of people waiting to see the building inspector. It was noted Mattapoisett is the only area town of its population with a part-time inspector.

DeCosta noted the salary is appropriated at town meeting, but fees collected go into the general treasury to help offset the salary. He said the board had recently increased the building inspection fees.

DeCosta explained if Crook is full-time he will be doing the zoning research work Town Clerk Lois Ennis is presently doing.

This would allow her more time to devote to her own work. He added that the building inspector also serves on the Soil Conservation Board. Other jobs the inspector handles include checking on zoning complaints, work on cease and desist orders, inspection and paper work.

Crook, a contractor himself, pointed out the builders have a problem if they can't have the job inspected, then the contractor can't assign his men to the next stage of work.

DeCosta cited the fees collected last year at the old rates were $9,561.; six months of this year, $6,435. If the new fee schedule was in effect, the revised figures for these 6 months would have been $14,101. The increase in permit fees would more than offset a full-time salary.

Mrs. Posiviata and Selectmen asked Mr. Crook if he had any idea where building is going in town to warrant a full-time inspector. Crook said a lot of summer cottages are being converted. Because of recent zoning changes and because of the complicated law on Flood Plain Zoning areas, these all have to be checked carefully.

Huntoon noted the legal fees have gone down because of Crook's checking zoning violations rather than going to the town

Tri-Town Adult Fellowship

Many people of both St. Anthony's Church and the Mattapoisett Congregational Church have expressed an interest in forming an Adult Fellowship open to the tri-town community. Would you be interested in being involved in many varied activities ranging from family picnics to formal holiday dances; community awareness development to a Chinese auction? These are only a few of the possibilities open to a group not restricted by age, whether you are married, or have children. Do you have any ideas? An organizational meeting to develop these ideas and plan more activities will be held at St. Anthony's Church on Wednesday, August 14th, at 7:30 p.m. Bring those ideas and bring a friend!

Mattapoisett Visual History

Military History will be the topic of discussion on Wednesday, August 7th, at 10:00 a.m. in the Mattapoisett Public Library.

The following week, August 13th, School in Mattapoisett will be the subject to be researched. There should be some interesting stories about behavior, discipline, and methods of teaching as opposed to today's modern methods.

August 8th at 10:00 a.m. in the library a group of Cannonville residents will gather to discuss the past history of this active summer colony area in Mattapoisett.

All meetings are open to the public and everyone is welcome to join in the research of Mattapoisett's past.

FROM YOUR MUSEUM

First, to our summer friends: We hope you have included a visit or visits to our Museum and Carriage House in your vacation plans. This year you will find a new addition to the building - The Charles Mendell Wing, built this past winter. If our Museum is as special to you as it is to those of us who are year-round residents, we ask you to consider making a gift to our building fund.

We are pleased to report that as of August 3rd we have reached 94% of our fund drive goal.

Anyone who has not as yet returned their pledge from the phone campaign, we urge you to do so. Others of you who have intended to send a donation but haven't as yet - you will find a coupon for this purpose on Page 47.

Here's how Chiropractic treats Athletic Injuries

Most athletes have come to recognize the hazards involved in their activities, and are among the most regular patients of chiropractic.

It is important to consult your doctor of chiropractic regularly, regardless of your type of recreational activity. If you are a parent, it is important to make certain your child does not suffer a spinal problem.

Your doctor of chiropractic will detect and correct subluxations, however incurred, and will arrest or prevent problems which they would produce. Chiropractic treatments can not only re-establish nerve function, but will relax you as well. With improved health, your enjoyment of your recreational activity will be enhanced.

The Rescue Squad performs a wide variety of services to our Town and our neighbors, but the Rescue Service is ever-changing and ever-expanding in its attempts to deliver greater service to our Town and others.

In past years, the volunteer Rescue Squad members have visited your homes asking for your help in donating money to support our organization's efforts to purchase "state of the art" equipment to carry out our mission.

Since the Rescue Squad receives no Town funding, nor any other monetary support or grants, other than through public donations, we would like to bring you up to date on some of our major equipment purchased through your past generosity: Jaws of Life, the Hurst Jaw Cutter, Vetter Air Bags, painting and restoration of our rescue vehicle, a new generator for lighting, multi-frequency and multi-agency radio-communication systems, protective clothing for the volunteers, oxygen and resuscitation equipment, patient care equipment, medical supplies, and many other hand tools and devices used in the rescue service, which unfortunately has cost thousands of dollars.

Because we want to expand our knowledge and services, we need to further our training efforts to be fully prepared when these services are to be put to use. Two specific areas are: Ice/Water rescues and land search and rescue. Needless to say, our best weather is during the summer months, when we usually are visiting you on our annual fund-raising drive.

Marion Playground Update

On a July Sunday morning, P.A.S.S. Materials Committee Chairmen Greg Houdelette and Hank Keene headed their trucks in the direction of Cape Cod. They enlisted the help of present and future fathers of children at Sippican School: Peter Brown, Roy Rider, Rick Marx, Eric Pearce, Peter Hunsdorfer and Ted Babbitt. Foregoing a morning of tennis or a leisurely day with the family, the crew left at 7 a.m., hoping to return by midday. Their destination: the Coast Guard beach in Orleans, where they would retrieve pilings donated by the Federal Highway Administration to be used in the building of the playground at Sippican School.

On past noon they worked, loading 450 linear feet of large, new C.C.A. treated poles into the truck owned by Babbitt Steam.

Each pole weighed close to 300 pounds and had to be rolled, dragged or levered until Tired, hungry and itching from the poison ivy they had contacted, the men returned to Marion and with the help of the Department of Public Works, unloaded the pilings onto the site of the future playground. It was now close to 6 p.m. These fathers had given up an entire summer Sunday, for some their only day off, to work for almost twelve hours, lifting, carrying, rolling, dragging poles home for their children's playground.

What kind of spirit arouses that level of industry, that much generosity, that outstanding community service?

It is a strain of infectious spirit that is infecting everyone who hears of the volunteer effort to provide Marion children with the finest playground of its type. The project is gaining support from areas as far away as Newport Beach, California. There, Mrs. Henry Durkee, daughter of the recently deceased Jill Miller, has pledged to match any financial contribution to the playground given in memory of her mother. Foremen, skilled carpenters, and masons, large equipment operators have committed their help for the construction dates.

Materials are being donated. Initially, architect Robert Leathers submitted a list of materials equaling $22,000. That figure, through donations, has now been reduced to $16,000, largely through the efforts of Greg Houdelette and Hank Keene. Several major items are in especial need: 475 linear feet of 6" x 6" C.C.A. treated railroad ties; 190 tons of well gravel, 18 gauge stainless steel for slide surfaces, landscaping items, such as large trees and shrubs. If these items can be donated it will further reduce the cost of building the playground. For specific measurements on items or any questions about possible donated materials, please call Greg, 748-2151, or Hank, 748-2376.

If you are unable to donate materials of this nature, your help is needed in many other areas: food service, child care, construction crews or landscaping. Call volunteer chairmen Kelli McSweeney, 748-1520, or Kathy Feeney, 748-0426.

Everyone is invited to have fun at the upcoming fund-raiser, a "Swing and Slide Dance", at the Sippican Tennis Club August 16th at 8 p.m. Tickets are available at The Bookstall and at Spirits for $6.00 or $8.00 that evening at the door.

Get involved! Have a good time! Be one of the hundreds of people working together in one of the largest community projects ever. Catch the spirit - the P.A.S.S. Spirit!

Cookbook Doorways

Doorways to Dining is a Mattapoissett cookbook being sold by the Mattapoissett Woman's Club as this year's annual scholarship fund-raiser.

Each section (main dishes, salads, desserts, etc.) is headed by a doorway of a Mattapoissett home. These doorways are pen and ink drawings by different members of the club. Many people who have purchased the cookbook asked where these doorways are located in Mattapoissett.

Therefore, each week we will feature a different doorway. This week's is the doorway which introduces the main dishes and is the doorway of the Doninger home at 33 Main Street. The drawing is by Flag Identified!

A LEBANESE FLAG?

from Kathryn Berry-Surprenant

While driving along Beacon Street on my way to Ned's Point, I happened to look over to my left and saw a beautiful red flag waving in the breeze. I looked again and.... Was it a Lebanese flag hung by James Hackett's front door??

"No Sir, it's a Bunker Hill flag. Red field with white left corner and Maine pine tree. A Lebanese flag has red stripes top and bottom, white center stripe with a large cedar tree," Jim Hackett explained as he drew it out on paper. "I wanted a colonial flag, something that caught the eye."

Easy to mistake as two of Jim's neighbors did right after he put it up. "No sooner than I put the post up and hung the flag, I heard knocking on the front door. It was my neighbor across the way and he wanted to know why I was hanging a Lebanese flag, what was the story and I explained," Jim chuckled. "He left scratching his head, later I got a few more comments about my Bunker Hill flag."

Maybe a Green Mountain Boy's "Don't Tread on Me" would have been a more appropriate flag, Jim.

In an effort to put a little dance and romance into these sultry summer nights, and to raise money for the museum's project to save the bucket, the Museum Committee has gone all out to make this the best party of the summer. A 150 foot tent is being erected for the occasion. The Marsels, a nine-piece band with a hot, motown lead singer, a large horn section, four costume changes, and an outrageous manner, will be the entertainment assisted by Jimmy J, the Boston DJ, who will play during the band's breaks in order to ensure non-stop dancing.

The Children's Museum has been raising money to restore the giant ice cream freezer. Created in 1929, it appeared as a unique and delightful landmark on the crest of Gulf Hill in South Dartmouth until its existence was threatened early in 1985 by new construction.

Charlie Dana, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Museum, explains: "The bucket was in a bad state of disrepair and we are saving it. We want to put it back as closely as possible to what it originally

He further revealed: "The museum is being deeded approximately 58 acres of adjacent land from the Apponagansett Bay Trust. We are developing a master plan for the use of the sixty acres in which the bucket will be a pivotal point."

When asked what such a plan might include, Andrew Svedlow, the museum's innovative and energetic new director, commented, "The museum is going to develop a kids' sculpture garden which will have interactive environments in which the children can be involved, plus we'll be updating our nature habitat trails and putting in boardwalks in certain areas for better viewing. Professionally designed information panels will be placed randomly throughout the trails. We'll also be updating our Hirshon Shelter. We will continue to preserve the area as a sanctuary for local wildlife."

To ensure the success of the dance Greg Morton's assistance has been elicited in booking the entertainment. Greg, owner and superb chef of Bridge Street Cafe, who formerly played with Aerosmith and Jonathan Edwards, was responsible for booking the en-views describe Cass's work as "having a strong sense of design, color and understatement...", while at the same time being photographic with a painterly style.

Mary Ross is a well-known artist throughout the area and is an exhibiting member of the Cambridge Art Association, Copley Society, Falmouth Art Association and several other galleries in the Boston area. A versatile lady, Ms. Ross has worked in many media, but her current exhibition is a unique form of collage. The collages have a free, airy, sometimes oriental look. They combine hand-made Japanese paper and acrylic paint which results in an exciting new look.

The Cass/Ross exhibition will run through August 21st. The gallery at the Marion Art Center is open from 1:00 to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Review: "Chorus Line"

New Bedford. There are many reasons why
"A Chorus Line" is the longest running musical in Broadway history, aside from the fact it altered the course of American musical theater. It's received every imaginable award, including the Pulitzer and has played to countless millions of appreciative viewers.

presented at New York's Public Theater, then moving to Broadway in 1975 where it still plays to packed houses, then on to several national and international touring companies and recently released for production to regional and community groups, the play's great strength is its affecting realism and its compelling musical score.

The Zeiterion Theatre opened its own production of "A Chorus Line" last Friday night. To toss around such superlatives as "brilliant" and "spectacular" might be regarded as glib hawking by a zealous agent, but surely, the cast, technicians, orchestral participants, and especially Directors George Charboneau and Armand Marchand, Musical Director Don Vasconcelles and Choreographer Clay James all deserve no less praise. They have accomplished nothing short of a miracle. According to Marchand, they rehearsed for but three and a half weeks. For those who have seen the Zeiterion production and were unaware of this fact, believe me, I hear the stunned silence.

However, what the audience sees is the cast, bathed in the loving touches of the technicians and it is the cast who creates the explosion of emotions inherent in the book and score. Opening night they received a spontaneous and well-deserved standing ovation that seemed to shake the freshly restored walls of the theater. More importantly, however, was the thorough professionalism of their exquisite ensemble playing. By far, it is the most extraordinary compendium of individual talents yet seen on the Zeiterion stage. In this regard, the producers should be encouraged to realize their potential in creating their own productions, drafting local and regional talent toward these efforts. This production out-distanced any touring company production this critic has yet seen at the Zeiterion.

From the stellar cast, special mention must go to certain individual performers, although all of them were superb. I have, on occasion, been accused of fault-finding.

In order of appearance, Paul Sardinha brought Mike to joyous life with his infectious upbeat personality and agile dancing. Marie Walkenstein's Sheila could give Gracie Allen a run for the money for her comic timing. She also possesses a splendid voice and a riveting presence.

As husband and wife, Paul Mungo (Al) and Christine Marie Christiansen (Kristine) were wonderful in "Sing!", which depicts an unsure singer but great dancer and her supportive husband, efficient in both talents.

Cynthia Marotti was given the responsibility of playing Diana Morales, who sings two of the best-known songs of the show. Her "Nothing" was both comic and touching and her rendition of the signature song, "What I Did For Love", was everything it should be, pure and deeply moving, ringing the rafters and stroking the heart-strings.

Laurie Martins as the streetwise Val had the hilarious good fortune to sing "Dance: Ten: Looks: Three", stopping the show with her comic antics and supple voice.

Valerie Swift as the over-age chorus girl, Cassie, sang and danced with great verve, struggling to reaffirm Cassie's identity in show business. She was most effective in her confrontation with "director" Zach (Christopher LeBlanc), who as a voice from the back of the theater, barks out his orders to those auditioning for his show. LeBlanc easily succeeds in revealing Zach's strength and also his vulnerability in that confrontation with his ex-lover, Cassie.

Dante Sciarra gave a deftly moving portrayal of Paul, a dancer coming to terms with his special uniqueness. His valiant efforts to accept the pains of his homosexuality was the cause of many tears amongst the audience. His was a carefully modulated and unclichéd performance, worthy of those tears shed.

Finally, Jim Clayton, as dance captain, Larry, revealed yet another facet to the viewer. His concern for these kids came through, despite the need to eliminate some from their ranks. Larry has been through countless auditions. His professionalism and sensible straight-forwardness as this being just another job were a stark reminder of the coolness of the profession. Behind all the emotion and magic, theater is a business, after all.

The magic of "A Chorus Line" will be repeated this weekend, August 8th, 9th and 10th at 8 p.m. Do yourself a favor. You won't regret it.

Nurse; Laura Hergenhan, R.N.; Ann Silveira, R.N., Charge Nurse; and Robert Quirk, R.N. will be available to go out to area schools to discuss the hazards and consequences of drinking and driving.

All have received special training through the C.A.R.E. Program first established at the University of Massachusetts Medical Center.

According to the St. Luke's nurses, the Emergency Room is often the site of grief and agony resulting from drinking and driving accident victims or fatalities. Not only do they treat the injuries and trauma but they must also deal with the anguish and suffering of parents, relatives and friends.

"Anyone who witnesses the frequent carnage in the Emergency Room that results from drinking and driving accidents cannot walk away unaffected," said Claire Walecka.

The nurses are prepared to share their thoughts, experiences and concerns with students to show them what can happen and what has happened to others.

The drinking and driving statistics for young drivers (16-24 years old) represent 45% of all fatal highway accidents. Alcohol plays a prominent role in these deaths.

Through the C.A.R.E. Program the nurses will discuss these statistics and how alcohol impairs coordination, speech and vision.

Blood Alcohol Content, the percentage of alcohol in the bloodstream, will be explained, along with many other sobering statistics and facts.

Finally, students will be asked to sign the "Contract For Life" distributed by S.A.D.D. (Students Against Drunk Driving) who have endorsed the C.A.R.E. Program.

Anyone needing more information or anyone wishing to schedule an Emergency Room Nurses C.A.R.E. Program can contact one of St. Luke's C.A.R.E. nurses at 997-1515, ext. 2390 or ext. 2389.

Burmese Glass

SPECIAL EXHIBIT

Queen Victoria loved the subtle dawn-like coloring of the yellow and salmon glass called "Burmese" that she commissioned the Mount Washington Glass Company in New Bedford to make her an entire tea set and two pairs of vases in 1886.

Collectors and lovers of Burmese Glass can view a special centennial exhibit of this type of glassware at the Brookside Antiques' new art glass gallery, 44 North Water Street, New Bedford.

The exhibit of over 200 pieces was organized by Louis St. Aubin, Jr., owner of Brookside Antiques, drawing from more than 25 private collections throughout New England and as far away as Florida and California.

The exhibit, which runs from August 5 through October 25, is free and is the premiere show for the new Art Glass Gallery which St. Aubin has just completed, renovating the space next to Brookside Antiques.

One piece on exhibit is a vase with a monkey design presented to President Grover Cleveland and his bride.

Burmese Glass was manufactured in only two factories in the world: the Mount Washington Glass Company where it was originated by Frederick Shirley in 1885, and Thomas Webb & Sons in England.

Shirley had the process patented and then presented Queen Victoria and Princess Beatrice with a few pieces. The Queen liked the glass so well she ordered a complete tea set. As a result, the English Company petitioned Shirley for a license to manufacture the style in England which was grant-mixture. The glass, free blown, or blown molded, was fired twice. The second selective heating added the soft pink color around the rim.

Most Burmese Glass was made between 1886 and 1895 when the process became too costly and was dropped by the company. In 1932, so the story goes, two pounds of the uranium oxide was found in a storage room, prompting the manufacture of 132 more pieces.

The Burmese Exhibit will have items from this batch as well.

Since the Pairpoint Company opened its factory in Sagamore in 1970, a limited number of Burmese pieces have been made.

Many of the Burmese pieces were elaborately decorated by local artists. They often had enameled verses, Egyptian and Persian motifs, "fish in a net" and floral designs.

The foreman in charge of the decorating department was Timothy Canty. Three of the foremost artists during the early period were Frank Guba, Herman Knetchel and Adolf Frederick.

This year's festivities will include an Oriental Fashion Parade featuring the designs of Louise Manging. Visitors may also take a guided or self-guided walk to view the spectacular oriental lotus flowers. Visitors will also join in a "Tea and Lotus" herbal tea party, with an oriental flair, and enjoy a display and demonstration of oriental flower arranging.

The Oriental Lotus Festival is sponsored by the Friends of Ashumet and proceeds are used to help maintain the sanctuary. Admission is $4.00, $3.00 for Mass. Audubon members, and $1.00 for children 16 and under. Refreshments will be available and a gift shop, featuring herbal craft items, will be open throughout the day. Participants should bring a pillow or lawn chair for seating.

FAMOUS ARTIST DESIGNS POSTER FOR THE TENTH CENTRE STREET SUMMER FESTIVAL

The erudite Edward Gorey, famous artist and author, has designed a charming, whimsical poster for the Centre Street Summer Festival to be held August 10th and 11th and sponsored by the New Bedford Preservation Society.

Ms. Evelyn Ramalhete, a local artist and an acquaintance of Mr. Gorey, was instrumental in obtaining his services.

During his 30 years in the art world Edward Gorey has produced 50 complete books and illustrated 60 others plus drawings for various publications.

Among these are the Amphigorey books, The Curious Sofa, The Loathsome Couple, The Hapless Child, The Abandoned Sock, all beautifully drawn in pen and ink. Each illustration is so complete that it can be framed as a picture.

bats, strange, sad children elegantly-furred men and Edwardian ladies in never-never lands, and hand lettered texts, Mr. Gorey's work borders on the macabre.

Ms. Ramalhete would like to see more children's books written and illustrated by this talented man. She says, "His drawings for 'Red Riding Hood' are great! I mentioned this to Ed and he said that he would like to do some obscure Grimm fairy tales. He then added, 'Grimm and Gorey!'"

For years this artist has had a following but in 1977, Gorey won a Tony Award for his sets and costumes for the Broadway hit, "Dracula"; after this the general public took notice. PBS Mystery Theater features his drawings of crumbling tombstones, stalking detectives and swooning ladies.

A faithful fan of the New York City Ballet, a devotee of the arts, a prolific reader, Mr. Gorey still maintains a New York residence but now lives in a charming house on Cape Cod surrounded by cartons of books (to be read) and by his cats.

Ms. Ramalhete stated that although a very private, low key person and being tops in his field, Mr. Gorey is always ready to contribute his valuable time and talent.

The Centre Street Summer Festival on August 10th and 11th held in the historic district of New Bedford will offer a great opportunity to Gorey fans to buy a "collectible" to be treasured for many years.

The Festival will feature crafts from all over New England, entertainment and many varieties of food.

The Academy, affiliated with Cape Cod Community College, Massasoit Community College and several southeastern Massachusetts hospitals, plans to offer training programs throughout the area specifically targeted to the primary and continuing education of EMTs and paramedics, as well as courses for emergency department nurses and physicians.

Two Paramedic Training Programs are scheduled this fall, one in Hyannis and the second in the greater Brockton area. In addition, the Academy will offer two basic Emergency Medical Technican courses as well as several Advanced Cardiac Life Support programs.

According to Fields, the creation of the Academy "will allow us to continue to fund the growth and development of the Cape's highly successful EMS system without having to seek greater financial support from the participating towns."

Information regarding courses and schedules is available by calling the EMS office at 771-4510 or 1-800-932-7345.

CANOE TRIP SATURDAY, AUGUST 17

Join the staff of the Lloyd Center for Environmental Studies for a Slocum River Canoe Trip on Saturday, August 17th, from 7:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Our early morning departure will allow a chance at observing some riverine birds and animals which are seldom active in the heat of midday. The Slocum River is a relatively pristine waterway which has its origin in North Dartmouth at the Paskamansett River. At Russells Mills Village the river becomes increasingly brackish, or salty, as it flows down to meet Buzzards Bay just beyond the Lloyd Center property. The group will explore this length of the river, making observations on the changing plant and animal communities in response to increasing amounts of salt water. The Lloyd Center can offer frightening, stories were told and have been passed from generation to generation for many hundreds of years. As the knowledge of the heavens grew, Native Americans utilized the stars and plants to aid in their daily existence. By charting the risings and settings of the sun, moon and various constellations and plants they were able to determine when to move from their summer homes to their winter homes and when to plant and harvest their crops. Some peoples developed their astronomical skills so highly that they could predict eclipses and recognize and record such sophisticated events as supernovas. Native American sky legends and astronomical knowledge will be explored in this session. If conditions permit, participants will conclude the program by viewing summer constellations from the Lloyd Center's roof. Registration is limited, so please call the Center at 990-0505 to make your reservations.

at Far Eastern University. He then returned to Plainfield, N.J. for one year at Rutgers University before commencing his residency at Bridgeport Hospital.

By and large Dr. Chu describes obstetric medicine as pleasantly rewarding, and he enjoys the surgery associated with gynecological care. He believes obstetric care and birthing options should be governed by the best mode of care for maternal health and for the production of a healthy baby. A primary goal of Dr. Chu is to promote and nurture personal and honest relationships with his patients.

An avid fisherman, Dr. Chu and his family find the surrounding area charming and are pleased to make their home here. Dr. Finegold's new associate will share office space at the Tobey Medical Center on 106 Main Street, Wareham and will begin seeing patients there this month.
